

LECTURES FOR FARMERS.

Two Weeks' Course Free at the West Virginia University—Good Chance for the Farmer of the Soil.

The following announcement from the West Virginia University is of interest to the farmers of the state:

In order to meet a possible demand among the progressive farmers of the state, especially the young men, for information both scientific and practical upon matters of daily interest to agriculturists, there has been arranged a short course of lectures by teachers and workers in the university and experiment station, which are intended to give in a condensed form the results of study and experiment in the various subjects pertaining to the practical work of the farm.

No charges will be made for this course of lectures. They are absolutely free to any person in West Virginia who will attend them. The only expenses will be the necessary traveling expenses and cost of board and lodging in Morgantown of those who attend. Board and lodging will cost from $3.50 to $4.00 per week. The lectures will begin on Wednesday, February 8th, 1893, and continue through Tuesday, February 21st, 1893, there being four lectures, one hour in length, each day except Sunday.

All persons attending these lectures must enroll, either by letter or in person. Address

THE FISH HATCHERY

Described as a Delusion, and the Legislature Urged to Abolish It.

Six:—We desire to call the attention of the West Virginia legislature to the fish hatchery for the state, established here two or more years since. We have not estimated the cost of maintaining and operating this institution, but whether the cost is considerable or inconsiderable, the people desire that the institution be promptly abolished. The fish bred (carp) are of no value as food, and nobody has ever received any pleasure or profit from their propagation, except the man who has charge of the institution and draws his salary from the auditor of the state.

If the institution is not abolished, it should be operated for the benefit of the operators only. No more mud-eating, cod-liver-oil-tasting German carp should be dumped into the rivers of West Virginia, and we hope that this legislature will not adjourn until the state is rid of this burden, and an institution which has been universally condemned as a nuisance. ONCE IN A WHILE.
Romney, W. Va., Jan. 12, 1893.

A Race War Expected.

JACKSON, TENN., Jan. 15.—There is grave apprehension of a bloody race war at Greenfield, Tenn. A few nights ago two negroes went to the farmhouse of Mrs. Jones, a widow, and attempted to assault her. The woman recognized one of the negroes and told the neighbors. The following night a body of masked men went to the home of the negro and were greeted with a volley of shots. The mob then riddled the house with bullets. The negro was shot in the throat, but escaped to the bottoms and remained on a stump all night, almost naked, surrounded by water. In the morning he was caught and whipped almost to death.

Yesterday a strange young white man came to town and bought thirty-five masks. The negroes have been buying guns and ammunition, and war was expected last night. Nearly every negro in the neighborhood has quit work and an outbreak is expected at any moment.

About the Iron Market.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 14.—The Iron Trade Review says: Buyers and sellers are supposed to have been merely watching the iron market in the past fortnight, and while prices, meantime, are presumed to be in statu quo, there has been a weakening all along the line. While it is true that neither the buying nor selling side of the raw iron market has fairly tested the situation, the absence of transactions means a downward tendency, since blast furnaces are at work when buyers are taking a rest. There is a disposition among furnaces to look at the heavy shipments as an indication that there is a considerable amount of 1893 ore yet to be sold. They are right, but ore sellers affirm that this amount is not as large as commonly supposed, and that it is confined to non-Bessemer ores.

Complications in Nevada.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—R. M. Clarke, ex-attorney general of Nevada, says that the legislature of that state is an illegal body, not having been elected on the basis of population. He says a question has been raised touching the constitutionality of the act of 1891 apportioning representatives and incidentally questioning the power of the incoming legislature to elect a successor to Senator Stewart. It is probable that steps will be taken to show the illegality of the legislature before the court. Should the legislature be unseated the appointment of a successor to Senator Stewart would devolve upon Governor Conner, a strong Republican, who will undoubtedly name a man of that political faith to fill the vacancy.

Two West Virginians.

New York Advertiser.

Ex-Senator H. G. Davis, of West Virginia, is at the Fifth Avenue hotel. He spoke of the death of Senator John E. Kenna with much feeling yesterday, and said the suddenness of the senator's demise was shocking. "Kenna was one of the bright and able men of West Virginia," said the senator. "He was warm-hearted, and he had a brilliant mind. You ask if his death will have any effect on the senatorial contest now pending in Charleston, I say, yes, I think it may have considerable effect. There has been a contest over the seat of Senator Faulkner, whose term expires on March 4. The Democrats in the legislature were inclined to elect ex-Senator Camden to the position, although Senator Faulkner was a candidate for re-election. This vacancy may lead to a compromise, which one of the two statesmen will yield the present contest will probably depend on the legislators when they meet."

Secretary S. B. Elkins, of the war department, was also at the Fifth Avenue hotel yesterday, but he had nothing to say about politics. He went to Philadelphia yesterday afternoon to attend a dinner given to Mr. George D. Roberts by the directors of the Pennsylvania road. He is coming back to New York to get his business affairs into shape at No. 1 Broadway, and begins to feel the relief that comes from looking forward to March 4 as a date when he can drop public business. He will probably buy a house in New York, which he intends to make his winter home, and he says he has lost his interest in politics.

John Brown's Bible.

John Brown's old bible, which has been sold by Mrs. Emily J. Blessing, of Charleston, to Mrs. F. G. Logan, of Chicago, contains the following in Brown's handwriting on the fly-leaf: "John F. Blessing, Esq., of Charleston, Va., with the best wishes of the undersigned and his sincere thanks for many acts of kindness received. There is no commentary in the world so good in order to a right understanding of this blessed book as an honest, childlike and teachable spirit." The signature of John Brown and the date, November 20, 1859, appear below the writing.

The following in Brown's handwriting is upon another fly-leaf: "John Brown. These leaves were turned down and marked by him while in prison at Charleston, Va. But most positive language condemn oppression and violence are marked."

Terrible Steamboat Accident.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Jan. 15.—While the steamer Warner was towing the R. C. Cole through the Chittot, a swift place below here in the mountains, Saturday, two of the Warner's flues collapsed, filling the boiler room with superheated steam, literally cooking the unfortunate crew.

Two men were killed and fifteen severely scalded. The deck hands were huddled around the boiler to get warm. The boat was not injured and was towed in by the Cole after both had drifted into calmer water.

Several Frozen to Death.

GREENSBURG, Jan. 15.—A little child of David McCracken, of Logan's Ferry, was frozen to death yesterday. The baby was 2 months old. Mrs. McCracken, wrapping the child up, started to walk to Parkersburg, a distance of two miles. When she arrived there the baby was frozen stiff.

A Mt. Vernon dispatch says: John Toothman and his stepson, William Stagdale, of Buckeye City, O., were frozen to death on Wednesday night, while returning from Mt. Vernon. Their bodies were found in a snow drift to-day.

Hard Lines for Findlay.

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 15.—The extreme cold weather closes a week of such depression in the manufacturing interests of the city, owing to the almost utter failure of the fuel supply, as Findlay has never before known since the development of the fuel gas era in Ohio. There is general anxiety among manufacturers here, and it is possible that the days of Findlay's prosperity as a manufacturing town on the strength of its fuel gas supply are numbered.

A Girl Burned to Death.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 15.—A cheap wooden building used as finishing room, connected with the fireworks factory of Benjamin Wedger & Sons, caught fire from the explosion of some fireworks yesterday afternoon and was destroyed. Miss Margaret Flynn, 22 years old, employed in the building, was burned to death, and Benjamin Wedger, the proprietor, and John Tully, a fireman, were very badly burned about the face and body in attempting to rescue her. The pecuniary loss will not be over $200 or $300.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh, being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Sleighs are scarce.

Glenville Pathfinder.

It appears that on account of the snowless winters of several years past, about all the sleighs and sleds of this country were chopped up for stove wood. They are so scarce that one is a sight.

The temperature the past two weeks excites a suspicion that the mercury has been taking a drop too much.

They stimulate the blood so as to enable nature to throw off all morbid humors, and cure disease no matter by what name it may be called.
